Cartus Named to Training Magazine's Top 125 Companies List for 13th Consecutive Year

DANBURY, Conn., (December 12, 2013) – Cartus Corporation, a leading provider of global relocation services, has been named one of Training Magazine's Top 125 companies for excellence in training and development programs. This marks the 13th consecutive year that Cartus has earned this prestigious recognition.

Training's annual competition evaluates organizational learning programs from hundreds of applicant companies and judges them on elements such as internal best practices, demonstrable results, innovation, and evaluation procedures.

"Service is at the heart of everything we do, and our emphasis is on the professional development of our employees, who are dedicated to serving our clients and customers," said Amy Meichner, Cartus senior vice president, global human resources. "From front-line customer service to the C-Suite, our best-practice efforts have a long tradition of recognition by Training Magazine, and we're very proud and appreciative of these honors."

This past October, Cartus also received the 2013 "Pike's Peak Performance Award" for the comprehensive training its Global Learning & Development department provides to employees worldwide. That award was presented by The Bob Pike Group, an organization that has trained more than 100,000 trainers over the past 30 years.

Training's "Top 125" rankings are based on a variety of benchmarking statistics, such as total training budget; percentage of payroll; number of training hours per employee program; goals, evaluation, measurement, and workplace surveys; hours of training per employee annually; and detailed formal programs.

The numeric rankings for the 125 leading organizations will be announced at an awards gala during the Training 2014 Conference & Expo, to be held February 3-5 in San Diego.
