Cartus Corp. Wins Thought Leadership Award at European Expatriate Management and Mobility Awards Gala in London

LONDON (November 12, 2014) – Continuing its impressive streak of awards, Cartus Corporation, a leading provider of global relocation services, has won the ‘Thought Leadership – Best Survey or Research Study of the Year Award’ at the European Expatriate Management and Mobility Awards (EMMAs) gala held recently in London.

Cartus won the award for its 2013 Talent Management and the Changing Assignee Profile Survey, which explored what organisations are doing to increase the value that their international assignments bring to the business. As a part of the company’s mission to provide trusted guidance to clients, the survey included detailed analysis in reviewing talent management trends and challenges.

Additionally, Cartus was runner-up for the Relocation Management Company of the Year award. In this category, Cartus was recognised for its supply chain excellence, including cost-saving initiatives, supplier management, and its dedicated ISO 9001:2008-certified supply chain process.

Earlier this year, Cartus won the ‘Best Growing Talent Initiative Award’ for its EMEA Intern programme, and at the Asia EMMAs last month, the company was named ‘2014 Relocation Management Company of the Year’ for the third straight year.

Held in Central London, the EMMAs celebrate excellence in relocation management and recognize business achievements and rising stars in the industry. The black tie awards dinner followed the Forum for Expatriate Management’s (FEM) Global Mobility Summit.

‘Winning the EMMAs’ Thought Leadership award for the best survey is something we are incredibly proud of since it demonstrates our commitment to providing our clients and the industry with the most detailed analysis of global mobility trends anywhere,’ said Ian Payne, Cartus Executive Vice President and Managing Director, EMEA and APAC.

Cartus’ award-winning survey results encompassed responses from more than 140 multinational organizations across all global regions and industry sectors, representing a wide range of relocation volumes.

The EMMA awards are independently judged by a panel of some of the most experienced and respected global mobility professionals from various industries and leading companies.
