Cartus Names Crystal Abbey Director of Business Development and Lori Rosasco Schwartz Vice President—Assistant Controller

DANBURY, Conn., (August 4, 2014) – Cartus Corporation, a leading provider of global relocation services, has named Crystal Abbey of Danbury Director of Business Development for the Northeast region and hired Lori Rosasco Schwartz of Trumbull as Vice President-Assistant Controller.

A 28-year veteran of the global mobility industry, Abbey will manage all major account business development activities in the Northeast U.S. She previously held positions at Cartus in the client services, operations, and implementation services areas.

Prior to joining Cartus' Business Development team, Abbey spent 15 years in the Consulting Solutions group for Cartus, managing such initiatives as: global program/policy design, industry benchmark surveys, communications/implementation, group move planning/management and, most notably, strategic HR consulting, where her initiatives included linking talent management and global mobility to assist companies in capturing and measuring their return on investment.

Abbey has presented at international conferences and seminars and has also written extensively for various publications and websites, such as Worldwide ERC[®]'s Mobility Magazine and HR.com.

In her new position, Lori Rosasco Schwartz will be responsible for managing Cartus' financial accounting and reporting function, overseeing Sarbanes-Oxley compliance, financial systems, and a variety of special projects.

Prior to joining Cartus, Rosasco Schwartz was controller at Canon Business Solutions/Océ North America. She previously held management positions in finance at Pitney Bowes and PricewaterhouseCoopers, where her responsibilities included financial reporting, budgeting, strategic financial planning and analysis, profitability, strategic growth initiatives, and process improvement initiatives.

Rosasco Schwartz is a Certified Public Accountant and a graduate of Boston College. She serves on the Trumbull (Conn.) Town Council as a District 3 Representative on the Finance and Education Committees. She is also active in numerous organizations such as Friends of Appalachia, the Trumbull Public Schools PTSA, Junior Achievement, and the Girl Scouts of America. She and her family reside in Trumbull.
